

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An improved shaping filter (R) is provided in a radio frequency communication system. The filter response of the shaping filter (R) is generated by constraining the filter coefficients in their adaptation at the optimal sampling point and not 5 constraining them at the non-sampling points. That is, the error metric is updated only at the optimum sampling point.